

Critsal B RotaCaps

Brand Name: Critsal B RotaCaps

Dosage Form: Rotacap

Therapeutic Category: Bronchodilator + Corticosteroid – For Asthma and COPD

Composition:

Each rotacap contains:

- Levosalbutamol IP 100 mcg
- Beclomethasone Dipropionate IP 100 mcg
- Excipients: q.s.

Pharmacology & Mechanism of Action:

Levosalbutamol is a selective β_2 -adrenergic receptor agonist that relaxes bronchial smooth muscle, resulting in bronchodilation and relief from bronchospasm. Beclomethasone Dipropionate is an inhaled corticosteroid that exhibits anti-inflammatory effects by inhibiting multiple inflammatory cytokines and reducing airway hyperresponsiveness. The combination provides rapid symptomatic relief from bronchoconstriction while controlling airway inflammation and preventing asthma exacerbations.

Indications:

- Asthma – maintenance and prophylactic therapy
- Chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD) with bronchospasm
- Recurrent bronchial obstruction and exercise-induced bronchospasm

Dosage & Administration:

- Adults and Children above 12 years: One rotacap inhaled twice daily, or as prescribed by the physician
- Priming may be required before first use
- Inhalation should be performed using the rotahaler device provided
- Not intended for acute bronchospasm or rescue therapy

Contraindications:

- Hypersensitivity to Levosalbutamol, Beclomethasone, or any excipients
- Acute asthma attack requiring immediate bronchodilation

Warnings & Precautions:

- Use cautiously in patients with cardiovascular disorders (e.g., hypertension, arrhythmia)
- Monitor for signs of adrenal suppression with long-term corticosteroid use
- Not recommended for pediatric patients below 6 years unless advised by a physician
- Rinse mouth after inhalation to prevent oral candidiasis

Adverse Effects:

- Common: Tremor, headache, palpitations, throat irritation, cough
- Less common: Oral candidiasis, hoarseness, nausea
- Rare: Paradoxical bronchospasm, allergic reactions

Storage:

Store below 25°C in a dry, cool place

Protect from light and moisture

Keep out of reach of children

Manufactured in India for:

Cafoli Lifecare Pvt. Ltd.

(An ISO 9001: 2015 Certified Co.)

Plot no.: 367-FF, Industrial Area Phase-I,
Panchkula-134113

TM: Trademark Applied for